Asad is scared of injections as well as doctors. His grandmother explains why: "In the five days he's been admitted here, they have given him three injections."
His parents and grandparents traveled from Sujawal to Karachi, just so their boy could receive quality treatment at one of ChildLife Foundation's Emergency Rooms in the city. They have no place to stay but they have prioritized their child's health.

"Asad's face and hands were swollen so bad," his grandmother confides, "We brought him to this [ChildLife] Emergency Room because the doctor back home recommended it. Now look at him, getting all better."

The relief of Asad's improving condition reflects on his grandmother's face as she watches him look shyly at the camera.

Here's a sunny smile you helped put on a child's face to make your day brighter! You can give the gift of life to thousands of little patients like Asad.

CHILDLIFE WISHES YOU A

Happy New Year!

Stepping into this new year, we pray you receive countless blessings.
Thank you for showing continuous compassion to the children of Pakistan.

A Landmark in Punjab's Pediatric Emergency Care

ChildLife's Emergency Room at Mayo is about to be operational! After covering Sindh and Balochistan, ChildLife is now ready to serve Pakistan's most populous province, Punjab.

Mayo Hospital in Lahore is the largest and oldest hospital in the country. Renovating its pediatric Emergency Room will enable us to help more children in need by providing quality emergency care to them completely free of cost.

Saving Lives in 50+ Hospitals

ChildLife now operates 10 pediatric Emergency Rooms and 40+ Telemedicine Satellite Centers across Sindh and Balochistan, ensuring the provision of emergency treatment and timely consultation to save precious lives.

For being able to provide life-saving medical help to children in over 50 locations, we credit our supporters' generosity. Thank you for empowering us to extend a bigger & stronger helping hand to the sick children of the country.
