

Saving the Children of Rawalpindi

In collaboration with the Association of Physicians of Pakistani Descent of North America (APPNA), ChildLife has launched a 10-bed Urgent Care Center in Rawalpindi, bringing free of charge, 24/7 urgent care closer to children and families across the twin cities.

Built on ChildLife's established pediatric emergency care model, the facility features WHO-recommended triage station, life-saving equipment, a well-stocked pharmacy providing free medicines, and a team of 40+ trained staff available 24/7.

With in-house diagnostic and radiology services, the center is equipped to support timely diagnosis and will treat up to 20,000 children every year.

We are deeply grateful to APPNA for helping ChildLife make quality emergency care accessible to children across Rawalpindi. Together, we are taking another important step towards a future where every child across Pakistan can receive the care they need, when they need it most.

Protecting 30,000 Children from Rabies, Every Year

Rabies is a serious but preventable disease, with children particularly vulnerable to dog bites and rabies exposure.

Every year, ChildLife Foundation treats approximately 30,000 children affected by rabies and dog bites, providing essential care, including access to rabies vaccines and immunoglobulin across its Emergency Rooms, free of charge, 24/7.

This World Rabies Day, under the theme “Stronger Together,” we are raising awareness about protecting children from animal bites and the importance of seeking medical care after exposure.

With awareness, prevention and timely treatment, rabies can be prevented.

Together, we can protect our children and move closer towards a rabies-free future.

Little Shazia's Road to Recovery in Loralai, Balochistan

Three-year-old Shazia lives in Loralai, Balochistan, where access to quality pediatric emergency care is limited. When she developed fever and diarrhoea for nearly three weeks and her condition worsened, her parents rushed her to the newly established ChildLife-managed Emergency Room at Teaching Hospital Loralai.

Diagnosed with bacterial gastroenteritis, Shazia received the treatment and monitoring she needed, including IV fluids and medication. Her fever subsided, she was able to take food and fluids again, and her vital signs stabilized.

Soon, Shazia was well enough to return home. Knowing that free, quality emergency care was available close to home gave her family great relief.

Her father, Imamdeen Hussain, thanked the ChildLife team for caring for his daughter.
